In addition, it was stated that other Soviet units have taken Ardabil, near the Caspian sea coast and Dilman near the Turkish frontier. The Moscow radio announced the Soviet military advance into Iran is "continuing according to plan."

PA NEW OBSERVES

According to a note sent to The News, there is a radio program broadcast direct from Camp Shelby, Miss., where many New Castle and Lawrence county boys are located every Wednesday evening. The program comes through station WHAS at Louisville, Ky., every Wednesday evening at 9:30 o'clock Eastern Standard time, it is stated.

Travelling over the eastern part of the country another innovation is noted in some sections in traffic signs. In addition to announcing "Stop" at highway intersections and street corners, the stop signs also carry the warning "Parking within 25 feet of this sign prohibited." This is a provision that is well worth while, because motorists find sometimes that cars are parked near stop signs in such a way that they obscure the signs to drivers who are not familiar with the locality.

Large piles of ashes are accumulating on highways in this area at the hills, indicating that state highway forces are preparing for the annual winter job of ashing hills and highways to keep them safe for traffic in the winter. With the huge tin mill in operation again there should be no difficulty in getting an abundant supply of ashes for all purposes the coming winter.

Flash Flood In Pittsburgh

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Aug. 27.—Talk about rain! Well, that's what Pittsburghers were doing last night and today.

A freak rainstorm ending a sultry day struck the city late yesterday afternoon, spewing flash flood waters into some sections where cellars and even first floors were flooded.

Half a dozen homes in Wilkinsburg's Swissvale avenue had flooded first floors while more than twice that number had water-filled cellars. The Saw Mill Run district in Castle Shannon, another storm "funnel," also was hard hit.

Today, the weatherman predicted, Pittsburgh will have cloudy and cooler weather.

The committee, chiefly by slashing individual income tax exemptions, has raised the total of the bill to $3,608,000,000 with many vital sections still to be finally acted upon. The bill was estimated to PITTSBURGH, Aug. 27.—Labor Day—normally a holiday for the nation's hardy miners and steel workers, will be just another workday this year because of the press of the national defense and rearmament program, it was learned today.

Pittsburgh's giant steel mills will operate full blast next Monday, with Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation and Jones & Laughlin Steel corporation paying employees time-and-a-half for their services.

A J. & L. bulletin board notice said:

"The pressing need for steel for national defense makes it essential there be no let-up in our steel production. The choice was one of either working Labor Day and producing much-needed steel in this emergency, or not working and depriving industry of steel production which can never be made up."

DOYLESTOWN, Pa., Aug. 27.—With their engagement formally announced, Gov. Arthur H. James and Mrs. Emily Radcliffe Case, statesque and vivacious widow of 46, the "First Lady of Pennsylvania" soon after the September primary election.

Seated in the living room of Mrs. Case's mother—Mrs. Robert Anderson Radcliffe, Doylestown—the state executive headed his bride-to-be into making the formal announcement. "Go ahead, make the announcement. You've had the experience," laughed the governor. "Just dictate what you have to say. When you do this more than once you ought to know what you're talking about."

The attractive widow laughed and did as she was bid.

Both the governor, who is 59 and a widower, and Mrs. Case said plans for the wedding were incomplete, but they agreed it would take place soon, apparently after the September election when the chief executive will be free to take a respite from politics. They indicated the ceremony would be performed in the Doylestown Presbyterian church with the pastor, the Rev. Myer M. Hostler, probably officiating.

Farmer Found Dead In Home

John Hamed Dies Suddenly Tuesday Afternoon At Frew Mill Road Home

Believed possibly to have choked to death while eating his lunch, alone in his farm home at R. F. D. No. 6, Frew Mill road, the lifeless body of John Hamed, aged 60 years, was found by a nephew when he went to visit his uncle early Tuesday afternoon. Sheriff M. M. Ingham was called and notified the coroner's office, an investigation revealing the sad circumstances.

Mr. Hamed, who formerly worked in the tin mill, had operated a farm on the Frew Mill road about three miles east of the city limits, for 19 years, having come to New Castle 33 years ago. His wife preceded him in death about 13 years ago, and he had been living on the farm with his two sons, Joe and James, who were at work when their father was stricken. It was learned by the coroner, Mr. Hamed was born in Syria.

In addition to the two sons at home, he is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Anna Kidoor of this city, Mrs. Mary Hammett of the East Brook road and Mrs. Frances Alley of Indiana Harbor, Mich., and a brother, Michael Hamed of this city.

The body is of this city.

Gas Shortage Probe To Start

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—A ceiling on gasoline prices on the eastern seaboard was expected to be established today as Congress prepared to investigate the petroleum shortage.

The decision to set a price ceiling was reached by Federal Price and Supply Administrator Leon Henderson who said a survey has shown that dealers "are wilfully profiteering at the expense of motorists."

Meanwhile, President Roosevelt said that barring a strong Nazi offensive in the North Atlantic, the petroleum supply will be better by next spring.

The chief executive told his press conference yesterday that more tankers will be in service, assuming sinkings in the war do not offset the increased construction of the vessels and that two pipe-lines from the southwest oil fields should be ready by spring.

Arrest Family Man As Suspect In Bank Holdup

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—Michael Bowers, 39, a family man, living in a luxurious home in suburban Forest Hills and accepted as a respectable member of his community, was held in $20,000 bail today as a suspect in the Stroudsburg, Pa., bank holdup of August 5 in which $50,000 was snatched from two bank messengers.

Arrest of Bowers, father of two children, was revealed by the New York offices of the Federal Bureau of Investigation. He was taken to F. B. I. headquarters where he was confronted by five witnesses from Stroudsburg. Later he pleaded not guilty before U. S. Commissioner Jacob A. Vied and was held for further hearing Friday.

The bank robbery was perpetrated by four men, one of whom brandished a sub-machine gun. Ralph Rheinfels, 37, and Lewis Heiney, 65, the messengers, were disarmed on the street by a fourth of the robbers while a third waited in an automobile. The car later was found five miles southeast of Stroudsburg. Shortly afterward a warrant was issued for Bowers' arrest.

U. S. To Train Youth Of S. America

Program Being Formulated Now

Latin American Youths To Be Brought To United States For Instruction

ROCKEFELLER HEADS LATEST VENTURE

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—Nelson Rockefeller, coordinator of inter-American relations, today is formulating a program to train Latin and South American youths in United States business and industry as part of the "good neighbor" policy.

The program is to be announced within two weeks, it is reported. Under it, youths in Latin American countries will be brought to the United States at the expense of this government and placed in American business schools and factories. They will be paid prevailing wages.

Hanson Named
Elliott Hanson, formerly with U. S. Steel, has been named by Rockefeller to head the apprenticeship training plan for the Latin American youth.

All details of the program have not been worked out. However, it is known that Rockefeller's office is canvassing large American business firms, like U. S. Steel and Ford, to ask them to participate in the plan.

It is not known as yet how many jobs will be made available for the youths from countries to the south, nor has it been decided whether the youths will be given training for one or two years.

Before they take over their jobs in factories, the youths will be sent to commercial or industrial schools for a short period to aid them in understanding U. S. economic life.

They also will be offered English courses. Although the program will be started on a small scale, it is planned to expand it yearly if it works out successfully.

the southeast coast toward France and thereafter shuttled back and forth across the English Channel in continuous streams.

Deadly Night Attack
The assault picked up the deadly work of planes which had carried out the night raids on German objectives in France and as the morning wore on there was a seemingly endless procession of R. A. F. machines, crossing and recrossing the channel in the brilliant morning sunshine.

During the night German raiders were active over Britain but the air ministry announced that the Nazi attacks were slight. A few bombs dropped on widely separated points caused a few casualties but no substantial damage, according to the official communique.

The British night raid on the channel coast of France proved a spectacular show. Watchers on the Kent coast of England saw the French shoreline illuminated by searchlight beams, anti-aircraft fire and bomb explosions. The British raids appeared concentrated chiefly on Boulogne and Calais.

British authorities said 10 German fighters were destroyed during the morning sweeps and that eight British planes were lost.

An air ministry communique stated last night's operations were on a "somewhat larger scale than of late" and that industrial areas of Cologne were heavily bombed.

In addition, the communique said, successful attacks were made on the docks at the Nazi-held French ports of Le Havre and Boulogne.

Fighters on offensive night patrols attacked airfields in northern France during the night, the air ministry said, adding that three British bombers are missing.

to convert their facilities to defense production.

Machinery will also be set up in the executive order to aid workers thrown into idleness because of the defense program. Mr. Roosevelt declared that it may be necessary also to use the unemployment compensation laws to tide workers over during periods of idleness.

The executive order, based on a survey made by Judge Samuel Rosenman, of New York, a close friend of the president, marked President Roosevelt's decision in the long fight between the OPM directed by William S. Knudsen and the OPACS headed by Leon Henderson. OPM and OPACS fought over the right to administer the curtailment in automobile production.

According to best available estimates, shortages of materials due to the defense program may force 6,000 and 8,000 manufacturers to go out of business, throwing approximately 2,500,000 workers into temporary idleness.

The executive order is generally regarded in defense circles as the forerunner of the transition from a peace-time to wartime economy for the nation. It is expected that defense officials will work out priority programs for more than 300 industries.

LANCASTER, Pa. — Eight-foot, six-inch Willie Camper, 18-year-old Carnival trouper, presented a problem to St. Joseph's hospital officials when he appeared for treatment. ## PA NEW OBSERVES days ago. Using a tractor, a farmer was plowing a field for fall planting. Following in the wake of the plow as it made the round of the field were about a dozen chickens, apparently looking for choice worms and bugs turned up by the plow. The chickens were only a few feet behind the plow.

There certainly must be a "guardian angel" for some youngsters. Pa New observed a locality where an old building was being torn down, and boards and wreckage were strewn all around. Climbing over this splintered and nail pierced wood were to be seen a couple of youngsters, both in their bare feet.

Returning from Washington, D. C., a recent visitor stated that he noticed something unusual among birds. While in one of the parks, a man fed a number of the pigeons who walked tamely around his feet, but in the flock, seemingly as tame as they were, about a dozen sparrows and a speckled starling. This being mentioned to Owen Fox, the latter stated that it was rather the boldness of the sparrows than tameness on their part, and had the man stamped his foot slightly, they would have been away. Possibly this is because so many folks have their hand against them, and these birds are ever on the alert against harm coming to them.

The favorite or timely sport of the season can most always be determined by watching the young boys at play. Already Pa New has noted small groups of boys playing football.

According to vacationers returning from New York City, quite a few people were noted to be wearing cotton hose, in some of the most fashionable places in that city.

A D. Schell found a mushroom on the Cotton Farm, Frew Mill road that will really make a large meal for a large family. The mushroom, brought to The News this morning, weighed three and a quarter pounds and measured 2 1/2 inches around one way and twenty-seven and a quarter inches around another way.

While checking some figures at Central station recently, Pa New discovered that there are 447 fire hydrants in New Castle.

Since being put into use about 8 months ago, the New Castle fire department mobile unit has answered close to 20 calls, according to a member of the rescue squad.

While swimming season ended a few weeks ago for many local addicts of the sport, the younger gentry is still paying daily visits to local streams and creeks for "dips."

There are said to be about 20,000 species of birds in the world.

FORTY THOUSAND RUSSIANS KILLED; 30,000 CAPTURED

Russian defenses were being intensified. German forces were said to be establishing a "crushing grip" on the Leningrad area, while special storm troops, supported by heavy artillery, prepared to pound the Black Sea port of Odessa.

Iron rings also have closed about the Ukrainian stronghold of Kiev and around Gomel on the central sector of the front, Nazi authorities said.

They added that in the Estonian sector the beleaguered city of Tallinn "seems fated to fall" to the Germans and that the first deep breaches in Tallinn's fortified lines have now been effected.

In the Leningrad area the advance on Russia's second city was declared to have progressed considerably with capture of Luga.

Reds Fight Tenaciously

Before abandoning Luga, German authorities conceded, the Soviets fought tenaciously from well planned and well fortified lines as demonstrated by the fact the Germans were compelled to crack large numbers of bunkers and remove 9,200 round and field mines before the Red army units surrendered.

With Finnish troops 30 miles north of Leningrad and in process of surrounding Viborg (former Finnish Viipuri), it was reported that a German panzer spearhead in a blitz dash through the marshes and woods from Nazi-occupied Novgorod to the north had seized Nova Ladoga on the south shore of Lake Ladoga.

If this proves correct, it means that a circle has been drawn completely around Leningrad. German authorities claimed there is no avenue of escape left for the city's defenders and that they are faced either with "capitulation or starvation through siege."

Most closely held secret of the entire front, however, is the nature and sector of the powerful blow for which German preparations now are in full blast.

Behind the front feverish railway and road construction is in progress, particularly toward the Dnieper river.

and not confirmed—that the Iranian government might reconsider its attitude and attempt to reach some agreement with Britain and Russia rather than continue to resist the invasion.

On the other hand, the London Daily Mail in a Beirut Dispatch said that renewed German diplomatic pressure upon Turkey, plus the massing of German troops in Bulgaria and in the Aegean Islands, has given rise to belief that Chancellor Hitler is contemplating a move to counter the Anglo-Russian advance into Iran.

No Resistance

Moscow advices said the Soviet advance into Iran from points both east and west of the Caspian sea apparently is rapid and not meeting resistance. A Reuters (British) dispatch from Moscow said it was believed the Iranian minister there had advised the Tehran government that "no opposition should be offered to Soviet troops."

Another indication that Iran is not seriously resisting the Russian advance was seen in a statement at Moscow by Vice Foreign Commissar S. A. Lazovsky that Russo-Iranian diplomatic relations have not been severed and that the ministers of the two countries remain at their respective posts.

The Iran radio, broadcasting the first Iranian military communique, said Ardebil, Resht and Ashraf on the Caspian and Bander Rig on the Gulf of Persia had been bombed by enemy planes, causing civilian casualties.

One plane was claimed to have been shot down during an attack on Tabriz.

Whether we must fight Japan will largely depend upon whether the Japs believe what the President implies or what the ex-President says.

FIND FOUR SLAIN IN APARTMENT

The father was found clad only in shorts, covered with blood, in a window fronting on the street. He was crying:

"Help me! Help me stop the blood on junior."

To police Morey kept repeating: "My wife did it. I was lying down and was hit on the head. I don't know what it was."

Neighbors who live above the small apartment said they heard screams shortly before dawn. The children's parents were said by neighbors to have been involved in frequent quarrels over Morey's drinking habits.

Police said first indications were that the tragedy was a case of murder and suicide. A suicide note, apparently in the mother's handwriting, was found in the home. It spoke despondently of continued illness of the children.

increasing amounts. It is no longer a question of how much steel can be provided to industry, but how soon. Delay in production of steel means delay in defense. For this reason, Carnegie-Illinois feels it cannot justify loss of ingot production which would be caused by a shutdown on Labor Day.

Officials estimated that 25,000 J. & L. employees would turn out about 10,000 tons of steel on Labor Day in the Pittsburgh and Alleghenya plants. Carnegie-Illinois has eight mills in this area.

The sessions will come to a close this afternoon, and the county teachers will be given a new outlook on schools problems, being prepared for the opening of the new term, which starts next week, with some splendid new ideas which they have gained during the current institute.

was modified to "representations."

The communications requested "consideration of Japan's position in view of her alliance with the Soviet Union."

He also pointed to the passage through waters close to Japan of materials which the United States denies to Nippon.

Moscow was reminded that "only the Soviets can guarantee that these materials will be used only against Germany."

Japanese officials said the representations were made in Washington and Moscow several days ago, but members of the United States and Soviet embassy staffs said no information regarding the reported communications was given to them.

Emperor Hirohito today held conferences with Premier Prince Fumimaro Konoye and Foreign Minister Vice-Admiral Teijiro Toyoda.

Publication of the announcement that representations had been made coincided with statements in the press that nearly ten million gallons of high octane gasoline had left San Francisco and other Pacific coast ports for Siberia around Aug. 16.

Japan, said the press, anxiously awaits replies from Washington and Moscow "in the form either of words or action."

To Maintain U. S. Policy

Washington, Aug. 27.—Secretary of State Cordell Hull today indicated that the United States intends to insist on its policy of freedom of the seas in sending supplies to Soviet Russia.

In response to questions at his press conference, Hull said that until America's freedom of the seas policy is revoked it can be assumed that this government intends to insist upon its application to the Pacific.

The secretary made this statement shortly after a conference with Soviet Ambassador Constantin Oumansky during which Japan's concern over the American shipments to Russia was understood to have been discussed.

Hull's statement also was made a few moments before he was scheduled to confer with Admiral Kichisaburo Nomura, the Japanese envoy.

No Formal Statement

Ambassador Nomura told reporters waiting outside Hull's office that he had not planned to make any formal diplomatic representations today on this question. He said he called on Mr. Hull on instructions from Tokyo to "discuss" several matters. He would not say whether the "discussion" included the question of American shipments to Vladivostok.

The envoy admitted that the question is one of the current problems in Japanese-American relations, adding however, that he hoped it was a problem that could be settled amicably.

Asked whether he felt that the shipment of American war supplies constituted a potential threat to Japan's security, the ambassador replied: "I leave that to your judgment."

While the Japanese envoy was waiting in the diplomatic ante-room of the state department to enter Hull's office, Sir Ronald Campbell, the British charge d'affaires, entered. He passed Admiral Nomura without a word and took a seat at the other end of the room, awaiting an appointment with Undersecretary of State Sumner Welles.

At an appropriate time, the small tables were attractively rearranged for the serving of a tempting repast, the hostess being aided with this feature, by her sisters, Misses Margaret and Alice Preston, and sister-in-law, Mrs. Walter Preston. The nuptial motif was cleverly enfolded in the decorative theme.

When the evening was at its height, Mrs. Horton was presented with an array of prettily wrapped packages, and when opened, revealed many beautiful gifts of a miscellaneous nature. She will leave Saturday for Wilmington, N. C., to take up residence, joining her husband, Lieutenant George Horton being stationed at Camp Davis, N. C.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

AIDING THE DEAF CHILD

Yesterday we saw how the child who is hard of hearing might be saved from permanent deafness; that 45 out of 50 with defective hearing discovered in time and given proper medical treatment, can be cured. Today we shall consider what he might do to help the deafened child overcome or reduce his handicap.

Lip-Reading

To quote Miss Agnes Stovell, authority on deaf and hard of hearing children:

"The hard-of-hearing child of the defect is only slightly more handicapped than the child who is deaf. Since the child is on the regular school work, the child so coached may have mastered the lessons better than the average child. Returning to his class he may excel.

"Of the 300,000 children in the United States who need to be taught to read the lip, only 40,000 are being taught to do so.

Superior Education Necessary

"Of course, the hard-of-hearing person needs to know more than anybody else in order to seem as smart. Therefore, he needs superior education in order to put him on a fair footing with children of normal hearing. Since this coaching, as a rule, is on the regular school work, the child so coached may have mastered the lessons better than the average child. Returning to his class he may excel.

"The hard-of-hearing child needs to be guided in approach to his life work. He doesn't need to feel he must get an earless job, as so often is suggested to him. While one would not advise the hard-of-hearing youth to train to be a teacher or stenographer, yet there are some school teachers and stenographers with defective hearing who are successful, because they compensate for this defect by the use of good hearing aids. We can take these hearing aids into account, as they are getting better and better. No person should be shut out of anything because of hearing.

Child Must Be Frank

"The child should be led to evaluate his own hearing impairment and estimate how much his lip reading and his own ability have enabled him to overcome his handicap. He must be frank with himself and not bluff.

"The child wants understanding but not pity. The hard-of-hearing child should not be interrupted as he reads, for example. Also parents should wait till he has his attention before making a request or command."

Solving Parent Problems

Q. When a child who really tries at his books fails in history, geography or science, what is his probable trouble?

A. Very probably he is a poor reader. Any one may have, with out cost, a copy of my "Home Helps for Poor Readers" by writing me at 235 East 45th street, New York City, enclosing a self-addressed envelope with a three-cent stamp.

What Noted People Say

(International News Service)

SAN FRANCISCO—Senator Hiram W. Johnson of California disclosed an inner wish:

"If I had the ordering of events, I would securely confine Hitler and Stalin in an elevated cage and let them fight it out."

PHILADELPHIA—Undersecretary of War Robert Patterson believes that morale, like charity, should begin at home.

"If civilian morale is high, soldier morale will look after itself. If civilian morale is low, all the needling in the world will not raise the level of soldier morale."

SPRINGFIELD, Ill.—Milo J. Warner, national commander of the American Legion, asserts that the legion is adhering to its anti-communist stand:

"Whatever aid Stalin can give in resisting Hitlerism is incidentally a benefit to sincere people everywhere—but that does not call for a change in attitude toward the Communist party in the United States."

PHILADELPHIA—Joseph E. Davis, former U. S. ambassador to Russia and Belgium, cautions those who would talk peace terms with Hitler:

"You cannot make peace with an evil thing that does not talk your language. A contract is no better than the man behind it."

An alcoholometer is now being used by the Danbury, Conn., police authorities to detect drunken drivers.

If a fellow who is arrested for a traffic violation is suspected of being drunk he is given the test.

He breathes into a tube containing a chemical solution.

The exhaled air turns the solution blue—the more alcohol the bluer the blue.

A meter, actuated by an electric eye, registers the exact percentage of alcohol in the subject's blood.

The Danbury officials think this test will curb drunken driving.

We think that the best way to avoid drunken driving is not to drink when driving.

A free land is one where national policy is dictated by people who don't understand what is happening and won't approve what is necessary.

There are about seventy barber shops in New Castle, Next?

The only time some birds pay any attention to public affairs is during a political campaign and they have a reason for it.

You can teach an old man new tricks.

OLD BUT STILL GOOD

We were thinking it about time for this old story to bob up again here it is:

Private Rooney was called before the lieutenant "Rooney," said the officer, "take my horse down and have him shod."

Three hours later the lieutenant was beginning to get impatient. He called for Rooney again.

"Where is that horse I told you to have shod?"

"Onigosh!" gasped Rooney; "did you say shod?"

It is claimed in Hollywood the only restriction on feminine sweaters is that they should not accentuate too markedly the anatomical attributes of the wearer. We don't believe it.

Usually it is the fellow who is always the goat who has the least love for dumb animals.

A New York man claims to have an invention on a bottle popping spout for a whisky bottle that plays "How Dry I Am" when a drink is poured. Set 'em up again!

During the first World War the German raider, Wolf, roamed the seas for fifteen months without ever going into port. During the 15 months she traveled 64,000 miles; captured 14 ships and destroyed 135,000 tons of allied shipping. . . . She wound up her unparalleled task by running the allied blockade and docking at her home port in the Kiel canal. . . . The jart took her to every ocean in the world.

Any married woman will tell you that a husband's efforts to catch the 8:15 bus is what makes him a hit-and-run kisser.

The argument in congress against adequate pay for the soldiers in military service is "Where you gonna get the money?" Why not get it like all the other money is being taken down there?

The shortage of school teachers is caused by men being called in the draft and others getting more money than they can make in teaching school. This may help those staying on the job.

We have heard tell of a woman who says she would divorce her husband immediately if she wasn't pretty certain he is a darned liar.

She adds that he writes some of those red-hot stories for confessional magazines.

Two bunnies were chased into a hollow log by a pair of hunters. In the darkness of the log, after regaining their breath, they went into a huddle to plan their escape.

"We have one of two courses open to us," said Mr. Rabbit to his sweet-heart. "Either we slip out of this log right now and make a run for it, or we stick around until we outnumber our enemies."

The few cents a woman saves by careful marketing, a man wastes on highballs for the bang.

Now we are to be faced with a shortage of zippers on account of a shortage of metal. Zip!

We also notice that lead pencils can be had very easily now. That may be a good reason for making a mark for a candidate.

Pap says the days Mother has an appointment at the beauty parlor she lets the bed go until night.

First he punched and then he pounded.

On my stomach smooth and round.

Then he thumped me on the back. Gave my ribs an awful whack. Made me black and made me blue; Ask if I had had the flu.

Asked if I had had the mumps. Measles, scarlet, or the "jumps." Looked at me as though he thought I could see the beer I'd bought.

He could see the beer I'd bought. Or could see that New Year's Eve I had been the last to leave.

Then he took his stethoscope. Listened to my heart. I hope, I mean, I hope I had a heart.

Looked in my eyes with a thingamajig.

Knocked at my reflex with some little rik.

Then he gave me two little pills. Told me they'd cure my physical ills.

And if by then I was still alive. He'd send me a bill for twenty-five.

FAMILIAR FOLKS: THE BARBER

Once our barbers were so dapper. Well oiled hair, moustaches curled. They were gayest in the 90's. Quite a date throughout the world.

From the barber came the gossip, expert views on politics. He knew all the latest stories, and the city slicker's tricks.

Escutcheon cups within each shop, graced niches prim and snug. Just waiting for an owner to have work done on his mug.

First you grabbed yourself a number. Then a pink Police Gazette, that portrayed the muscled fighter and the meatier soubrette.

You'd lie beneath a steaming towel in luxury divine, while members of the old quartet would pine for Adeline.

Old traditions are forgotten, all except the barber poles. Now our barbers are like surgeons, playing antiseptic roles.

Yet even in the modern shops, a scheming salesman lurks. You come to buy a simple shave, and get the whole darn works.

The greatest change I have seen, is the client in the chair. Nine chances out of every 10, a woman's sitting there.

Jap Envy Well Liked In Washington
Admiral Nomura Proves Affable Gent
Columnist Recalls Days In Far East

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—ABCD is another new alphabetical combination. Admiral Kichisaburo Nomura, Japan's ambassador in Washington, is given credit for concocting it. It means America, Britain, China and Dutch (the Netherlands East Indies), the powers accused from Tokyo of being in cahoots to encircle the Mikado's empire.

Of course, ABCD isn't the correct spelling in Japanese. In the Japs' own language the spelling naturally must be in hentaigana. Ambassador Nomura, however, speaks United States, and evolved the ABCD designation for the benefit of writers of American newspaper headlines.

It's pretty hard to write America, Britain, China and Netherlands East Indies, plus a few other words, with spaces between 'em, in a dozen or 15 letters. ABCD, though, fits in very conveniently.

We may not overly like Japan at present, but Ambassador Nomura personally is a good scout. Headline writers acknowledge their obligations to him.

Since he gave 'em his original suggestion, ABCD has been transformed into ABCDR, to provide for Russia, which now is said to be included in the international encirclement. ABCDR hasn't continued, but there's no help for it. Russia can't be omitted.

I probably wouldn't enjoy being DETAINED in Japan, like those 100 Americans whom the Jap government wouldn't allow to sail for home. But the Imperial Hotel is no bad hostelry to inhabit in Tokyo in normal times. When my wife and I dwelt there, in pre-World War No. 1 days, we liked it.

Almost a Killing

In that era it wasn't necessary for a visiting American even to have a passport. But I'd been in China. Civil war was raging there, then, and I'd considered it judicious to tote a pistol, a 45-caliber Colt automatic, then the very latest pattern of shooting iron. Landing in Yokohama, bound for Tokyo, I deemed it desirable to report at police headquarters that I possessed the weapon. Accordingly I headed in at the proper office and asked if it was O. K. for me to keep the thing. It was, but the coppers were greatly interested in the gun, never before having seen one like it. For experimental purposes, one of them put the muzzle against a friend's head and pulled the trigger. Fortunately I'd removed the clip of cartridges, but there'd been a dead Jap on the premises if I hadn't. The Japs are just that playful.

As a foreign correspondent I had a desk in the main office of the Nippon Dempo Tsusin Sha (Jap Telegraph News company). It was equipped just like the office of any American news agency, but the staff all wore kimonos and clogs and things. Gosh! but they looked funny, editing news, so attired.

It is a fact that there is a tremendous reservoir of oil beneath the surface of many States in this Union and it will be remembered that oil was not discovered simultaneously in Pennsylvania and California. Oil was discovered in one after another of the oil producing States and no one can say, authoritatively, that there is no oil to be had beneath the surface of the present non-producing States. East and West, it would appear that there was very little shortage of gasoline in the eastern States.

There seems to be something very "screwy" about the above figures. With the exception of Oklahoma and Missouri, the price did not seem to depend upon the supply in any degree whatsoever. In California, where there is a tremendous quantity of oil, the price was comparatively high. In Connecticut, about as far away from large oil fields as you could very well get, the price was less than in California. If the price of gasoline is dependent upon the supply and the demand for that article, it would seem that the gasoline stations located East of the Mississippi should be charging a great deal more for their gasoline than is charged in the State of California. In other words, basing the conclusion upon the relative prices of gasoline, East and West, it would appear that there was very little shortage of gasoline in the eastern States.

(From the Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania)

Man, as a race, is in a fairly enduring condition.

Man, as an individual, is in rather bad condition.

Take 1,000 average persons and examine them physically.

Seventy of them will be found to be unfit for employment.

Infected tonsils and sinuses will be discovered in 23 of them.

Sixteen will be generally below par and unable to work actively.

Fourteen will have poor vision which cannot be corrected.

About 12 will be found to have tuberculosis.

Seven will have well-developed hernias, four will suffer heart disease.

Six will have cancer, anemia, diabetes or epilepsy.

Six will have high blood pressure and six more very bad teeth.

Small wonder industries demand applicants have physical examinations.

The World and the Mud Puddles

A CURIOUS SITUATION.

It seems to me that the Administration in Washington is doing everything it possibly can to thoroughly frighten the citizens of the United States without sufficient cause for doing so.

Take this order of Mr. Ickes, closing the eastern gasoline stations at night, for example, alleging the difficulty of supplying these eastern stations with gasoline due to shortage of ocean-going tankers. This order has been made in the face of the fact that up to this time the price of gasoline in the States East of the Mississippi and North of the Ohio, is from one to four cents cheaper than it is in California.

I traveled about seven thousand miles by motor car in the months of June and July of this year, traveling through the States of Arizona, New Mexico, New Jersey, Oklahoma, Missouri, Kansas, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Pennsylvania, New Jersey and the New England States. The price in California was nineteen and one-half cents a gallon; in Texas, nineteen and one-half cents; in New Mexico, nineteen and one-half cents; in Oklahoma, as cheap as fifteen cents (they have a lot of oil in Oklahoma); in Missouri, fifteen cents; in Illinois, nineteen cents; in Ohio, eighteen cents; in Pennsylvania, seventeen cents; in Connecticut, eighteen cents and in New York, eighteen cents.

There seems to be something very "screwy" about the above figures. With the exception of Oklahoma and Missouri, the price did not seem to depend upon the supply in any degree whatsoever. In California, where there is a tremendous quantity of oil, the price was comparatively high. In Connecticut, about as far away from large oil fields as you could very well get, the price was less than in California. If the price of gasoline is dependent upon the supply and the demand for that article, it would seem that the gasoline stations located East of the Mississippi should be charging a great deal more for their gasoline than is charged in the State of California. In other words, basing the conclusion upon the relative prices of gasoline, East and West, it would appear that there was very little shortage of gasoline in the eastern States.

It is a fact that there is a tremendous reservoir of oil beneath the surface of many States in this Union and it will be remembered that oil was not discovered simultaneously in Pennsylvania and California. East and West, it would appear that there was very little shortage of gasoline in the eastern States.

All of this makes the order of Mr. Ickes seem to me rather absurd.

In 1919 he organized the Oriental Institute at the University of Chicago as a scientific laboratory, the first of its kind, for investigating the early career of man and studying the history of ancient civilization. He wrote many authoritative works on archaeology and history.

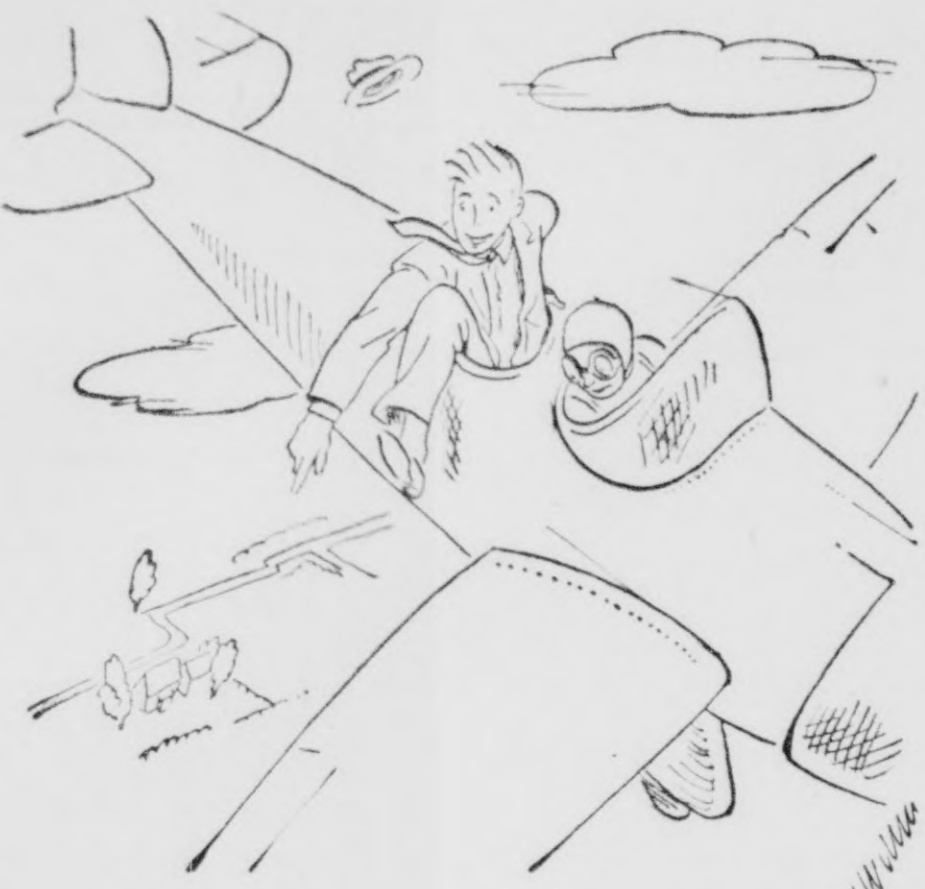

1865—Charles Gates Dawes, statesman and financier, at Marietta, O. In 1921 he became the first director of the budget bureau, and in 1924 he was elected vice president of the United States.

1871—Theodore Dreiser, novelist, at Terre Haute, Ind. His first novel, "Sister Carrie", was published in 1900. ## Complete Plans For Company B Week-End Camp

Defense Corps Will Have Three Day Encampment
At Boy Scout Camp

MILITARY CONTROL WILL BE PRECISE

Plans have been about completed for the encampment of Company B third regiment, Pennsylvania Defense Corps, which will be held August 30-31 and September 1, at the Boy Scout camp, on the Slippery Rock creek. On Tuesday night, Major Frank E. Weber, Captain Lester W. McClelland and Battalion Sergeant Major Frank W. Hill met for a check-up of what had been done and completed arrangements for the feeding of the company and the regimental officers who will be present.

The camp, which will be known as Camp Woodside, will open Saturday, Aug. 30, at one o'clock. From then on until about four, members of the company, scattered over Lawrence, Beaver, Butler and Mercer counties, will be arriving, as will officers of the other companies of the regiment. Colonel Robert E. Woodside, commander of the third regiment, will arrive late Saturday afternoon.

Military Control

The camp will be under strict military control. Guard posts will be established, drills and maneuvers will be held, military formations will be held, and the officers will attend an officers' school. Major Weber will be the camp commander and Captain McClelland the camp adjutant. Visitors, both men and women, are invited to inspect the camp Sunday afternoon and Monday afternoon.

Feeding the group of about 75 men will require a lot of food, and arrangements are being made to do the job in a proper way. Many contributions of food have been made, particularly in Beaver county. Already the bread and cookies necessary for the three days have been donated by a Beaver county bakery, part of the meat will come from Beaver county, canned goods and butter. Lawrence county is being asked to provide such staples as potatoes, eggs, cheese, milk, salt, pepper, vinegar, mustard, ketchup, mayonnaise and other things. Some contributions have already been made.

Military Discipline

Military discipline will prevail, and one of the general orders that will be enforced is that no alcoholic beverages of any kind will be permitted inside the reservation at any time during the encampment. On Sunday afternoon Dr. John Jamison McIlvaine, pastor of First Presbyterian church, will preach at the vesper services, and in the evening the American Legion junior band will play a concert.

Practically every man in the company and every officer of the regiment has signified his intention of being at the encampment. The men in Company B come from all parts of the four counties in this district and attend drill every Friday night, driving at their own expense. They receive no compensation whatever for their services in the defense unit.

Japanese Drama

One evening my wife and I went to the Imperial theater. It was as modern as anything Broadway has to offer. The actors, though, don't do any talking. They ACT, but the play's purport is recited by a chap in the background.

This particular play was an olden-days affair — a good many generations back. One of the performers impersonated a high-up government official of that epoch. He wore a pair of pants about six feet too long for him. It was explained to me that, at the time that that play represented, all ex-acted officials wore such pants. If they stepped too hastily, they fell on their snoots instantly. The idea was to remind 'em, constantly, not to make official decisions in a hurry—to stop and think first.

Yet that actor danced in those pants. He cavorted, with six feet of pants trailing after him.

Seeks Support For U. S. Defense

(International News Service) PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 27.—Brig. Gen. Frank T. Hines, veterans' administrator in Washington, today appealed to the 42nd annual national encampment of the Veterans of Foreign Wars for united support behind President Roosevelt in the nation's defense program.

"In this period of national emergency, our most important duty—a high obligation of citizenship to our republic—is to stand united squarely behind the efforts of our president," Hines told delegates at a business meeting.

The session, first of a day crowded with important addresses, followed the encampment's huge parade, a feature of the week-long convention. The delegates voted to urge outlaws of jurisdictional strikes and to ask Mr. Roosevelt to use his authority to settle labor disputes. The same resolution further urged that strikers lose their draft deferment if they have been exempted from military service because of their occupation.

"It is essential that we should uphold him (the President) in the steps which are being taken for the protection of our country and its citizens," said Hines, who asserted a halt must be called to strikes in defense industries.

"Whether congress has decided our course of action and has mandated the president to carry out the program. It is for us and all other patriotic citizens to help him do so." "Our country has embarked upon a policy of building up our armaments as rapidly and effectively as possible. We are not doing this for aggression. We are doing this for defense, and in the defense of the principles and high ideals of democracy."

"Believing in these principles as firmly as I do—I cannot help but feel that loyal American citizens generally, condemn as unjustifiable and unpatriotic, all efforts tending to thwart the program of an adequate national defense."

"Where these acts take the form of strikes or other methods, it is immaterial for they are in effect a defiance of constituted authority and every means must be employed to stop them."

Parshall School Reunion Saturday

Fourteenth Annual Reunion Of Pupils Is Held At McKarney Homestead

An ideal day and a large crowd made the fourteenth annual reunion, which was held Saturday at the McKarney homestead, one of the most successful ever given by the Parshall School Association.

Seventy-five were served at the bountiful noon dinner, at tables set on the spacious lawn. There was much reminiscing and reliving of old memories, when these former teachers and pupils gathered for their yearly get-together.

James P. McKarney, of Swissvale, is in charge of the memorial service, which, each year, honors those members of the association who have passed on. Mr. and Mrs. Coleman sang "Rock of Ages," which was followed by a moment of reverent silence. Mrs. William Scott, of Grove City, led the group in a brief prayer. Those of the association who have died during the past year are Guy Lockhart, Mrs. Roanna Smith-Bracken, T. Clark Blevins, Sankey Rudolph, Dr. William R. Badger, Mrs. Laura Findley McFarland and Mrs. Margaret Black Grant.

A fine program of recitations, songs and contests was directed by program chairman, Mrs. Emma Lewis. Guest speaker was Rev. Homer K. Miller, Volant Presbyterian minister. His topic was "The One-Room School and Its Results."

Officers and committees were retained for another year's service. Next year's reunion will be held at the McKarney homestead, with the date to be decided by the committee.

Tax Boost Plan Suffers Setback

By WILLIAM S. SEAL International News Service Staff

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—Proposals of some senators to boost the total of the new tax bill from $3-600,000,000 to $4,000,000,000, suffered a setback in a secret session of the Senate Finance committee today.

The committee, members said, voted to remove from the House-approved bill a special 10 per cent corporation income tax applying to corporations making increased defense profits.

This levy, which was estimated to yield $500,000,000 a year, was fought on the ground that it would cripple many firms which struggled in "red ink" for years and now are just getting on their feet.

It was favored as a means of taxing firms, such as steel companies, which are profiting from the defense boom though not making enough money to pay excess profits taxes.

The committee, it was said by members, may make up the loss in revenue by special excise levies on the public which would yield much more money. Consideration was given to increasing excess profit tax rates.

At 9 o'clock Sunday morning the business session will open in The Castleton hotel. Officers will be elected and the site of the 1942 Gymanfa Ganu selected. At 10 o'clock, Rev. Rees T. Williams of Utica, N. Y., formerly of New Castle, will deliver the Gymanfa sermon in the First Congregational church on East Reynolds street. At noon the official delegates to the Gymanfa will be tendered a luncheon in The Castleton hotel.

At 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon the opening session of the Gymanfa Ganu will begin. President Caradoc Ellis of Johnstown, Pa., is expected to open the session and Mayor Charles B. Mayne will extend an official welcome to the guests. Mrs. Louis B. Round, honorary chairman of the Gymanfa, will also welcome the guests. Henry T. Jones, general chairman of the Gymanfa, will introduce President Ellis.

Just Singing
From then on the afternoon will be given over to singing. The old melodic Welsh airs will reverberate through the Cathedral auditorium with Dr. Griffith J. Jones of Cleveland, O., director-general of music. Various conductors from other cities will be asked to direct a number of choruses. The accompanists will be Edwin Lewis of New Castle at the Greer Memorial organ and Mrs. John M. Evans of Clairton and Miss Lena Richards of New Castle at the pianos. Mrs. Oliver Smalley, wife of the British consul at Pittsburgh, will be the honorary chairman of the afternoon and Rev. Rees T. Williams of Utica, N. Y., will be the master of ceremonies.

The evening's session starts at 7 o'clock. Judge Daniel E. Morgan of Cleveland, O., former city manager of that city, will be the honorary chairman and Rev. Williams will serve as master of ceremonies. The Gymanfa will close at about 11 o'clock, it is anticipated.

New Castle is honored in having the Gymanfa Ganu here. This is the smallest city that has ever entertained the huge singing festival but the arrangements here indicate that none will have surpassed New Castle in the excellence of the arrangements.

The Gymanfa Ganu is free to the public. The only requisite to attendance at the Gymanfa is a love of music.

SEVENTH WARD NEWS

Workmen Begin To Build Sidewalk On East Cherry Street

Walks Will Replace Those Torn Up When Street Was Re-Surfaced Recently

Workmen began to build sidewalks along East Cherry street, between the Pennsylvania railroad tracks and the intersection of Bolt street, Tuesday.

The new sidewalks will replace those torn up when the street was re-surfaced last year. At the present time the north side of the street is being prepared for concrete.

The work on the new walks is being done by the WPA, with the property owners furnishing the matterial.

friends and relatives, on a recent evening, at their home, the occasion honoring their twentieth wedding anniversary.

The hours were spent informally, and approximately 80 guests attended the affair. Music, vocal selections and dancing were features of the evening. Virgil Apostolico and Francis DeSantis favored the assembly with vocal selections.

At a later hour, the hostess served a delicious lunch, with the assistance of Mrs. Domenico Tommello, Mrs. Michael Zuppella, Mrs. Michael Prescaro, Mrs. Paul Bardash and Mrs. Andrew Masters.

Special guests present included:
Mr. and Mrs. Philip Martone and Lucy's church, by the Rev. Fr. Mangellie, then pastor of the church.

In remembrance of the happy occasion, the honored couple were the recipients of many lovely and useful gifts.

MRS. HUGH STEWART HOSTESS FOR CLUB

Mrs. Hugh Stewart, of East Washington street, proved a charming hostess Saturday evening, when she entertained members of the Birthday club at a dinner party.

At 6:30 o'clock, the guests were invited to the dining room, where a delicious menu was served. Garden flowers, arranged in artistic fashion, were used in the table decorations.

After a short business period, games were played and prizes were awarded to Miss Harriet Kennedy and Miss Sue Park. Mrs. Deegan won a special prize.

The members will meet next at the home of Mrs. A. F. Stritzinger,

Ash Pile Again Mounting High

The city ash pile on North Cedar street is again reaching large proportions.

Since the mill reopened, ashes have been added to the large pile almost daily. Every chance the city trucks have when they are not busy on other tasks, they are used to haul ashes.

The ashes are used in the winter to cover icy streets in the city.

Contest Winner Didn't Know He Was In Contest

Jack Solomon Will Be Guest Of Donald Reed At Football Games Here

Donald Pete Reed had two surprises Tuesday. First, he was surprised to learn that he had won two season passes to the football games for selecting the winning name for the team. Second, he was more surprised to learn that he was entered in the contest.

It just so happens that the winning name was placed in the ballot box by Jack Solomon, who as a joke placed Reed's name on it.
Solomon isn't a bit sorry, however, because the winner has promised to take Jack to the games as his guest.

Keeping U.S. Lifeline Open To Iceland Will Be Rugged Business

(This is the third in a series of reports by Walter Kiernan, International News Service staff correspondent, who traveled to Iceland, furthestmost north outpost of the United States armed forces, with a naval convoy.)

By WALTER KIERNAN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

REYKJAVIK, Iceland, Aug. 27.—(Delayed)—Keeping the lifeline open to Reykjavik is a rugged business which will grow more rugged for the United States navy as the long Arctic night sets in.

Officially the United States is not at war but her convoys ride through the submarine-infested waters of the North Atlantic blacked out and silent at night exactly as the British with the exception that battle-ships, heavy cruisers and more destroyers guard the U. S. than the British units.

I rode a destroyer to Iceland in the second convoy to go over the route and while no submarines actually were ever sighted, their presence was frequently sounded on our destroyer which was patrolling the front—that is zigzagging in wide sweeps for some 500 yards across the respective lanes of our convoy.

We had long days and nights of that enroute to Reykjavik, turning in every night wondering if that would be the night the Germans might confuse us with a British convoy and act accordingly, waking each day to congratulate ourselves that it hadn't happened yet.

Add To Hazards
A thick belt of fog, sudden storms and shrill winds will add to the hazards as the Iceland winter brings 20 hours of night compared to the 20 hours of summer daylight under which the convoy system was instituted.

And there is no choice. With a force of Americans stuck for the winter among a people who exist on fish and mutton, a little beef and canned stuff, the food line, if nothing else must be kept open.

Even before the coming of winter the North Atlantic is a fretting, petulant sea. The destroyer on which I travelled to Iceland rocked, rolled, reeled and pitched her way to Reykjavik and on the return trip her forecastle was under water for days at a time and her bridge was smashed in one fierce sweep of the sea.

These are the conditions which the navy faces under peace as we know it now. Any change directly involving the United States in a shooting war multiplies the hazards. Then the U-boats which silently trail along will not fade away at dawn, the planes and the surface craft which now discreetly stay out of our path will not be so discreet.

During the World War, the United States convoyed thousands of soldiers and thousands of tons of materials to maintain them in England and France but England and France almost directly east of the United States are not Iceland on the edge of the Arctic circle.

Long Course
The course to Iceland is twice as far and twice as difficult. The men there are entirely dependent on the convoys for their food and materials, yet unloading is slow and difficult, wharfage is inadequate, there is almost entire lack of refrigeration and no equipment for handling the heavy load which will come through.

For example, one supply ship in our convoy carried a heavy machine to Iceland and carried it back again because the heaviest boom on the docks could not handle it. Another supply ship carried 10 times more beef than there was refrigeration for in all Iceland.

Cows appear to thrive in Iceland, cows do not, so most milk and cheese is from the goat. Butter is almost non-existent and there is little poultry. A country which is entirely treeless except for a few carefully nurtured ones in Reykjavik yards, Iceland is also entirely without vegetables. In fact a local newspaper was showing two home-grown potatoes in its window today with considerable pride.

Soil is a thin blanket over much of Iceland with lava or rock so close to the surface as to be worthless for cultivation. Markets show a few cucumbers, which run about the thickness of a thumb and are eight to ten inches long, a local rhubarb, a small sort of kale-cabbage and not much else.

Provisioning Is Problem
Soldiers and sailors must eat and with no local markets to which commissary officers can look for fresh supplies, the provisioning of the Iceland garrisons becomes serious business.

The heavy ships in our convoy were required to fuel and provision destroyers in mid-ocean half-way to Iceland; and to fuel and provision them again on the home-ward trip. With close to 2,000 men on a battleship or cruiser biting into three meals a day for almost a month on a single convoy trip and the battleship also called on to fuel and provision others it becomes apparent that the Iceland convoy operations are going to be costly, difficult and always conducted with a pulled in belt.

Natives claim for the winter temperature that it is no worse than a New York January but they appear to speak in terms of temperature minus wind. This afternoon under a strong sun and a temperature probably around 59, a wind came up which turned hands and faces blue in less than 10 minutes.

When the winter thermometer stands at two below zero and the Arctic Circle there will be little comfort in the thought that the thermometer in New York may also be hovering around zero.

Our forces are for the most part quartered in corrugated iron shelters which are supposed to be bomb-proof and which look at a distance like a field of horizontal oil tanks. They can be made fairly comfortable inside but they are located mostly on flat plains along the shores or on exposed sides of hills or mountains where the wind really gets a bite.

Tank Production Will Be Tripled

(International News Service)

DETROIT, Aug. 27.—Tank production at the Chrysler Corporation and within a "very short time" will be tripled, K. T. Keller, president of the corporation, disclosed today.

Keller said he was forbidden by army regulations to disclose how many of the tanks were rolling off the assembly lines. It had been previously announced that five complete tanks a day was the avowed immediate goal.

"All I can say officially is that we are operating at very near our present capacity, but that we will soon expand and triple production," Keller told newsmen visiting the arsenal.

"Even as we are making the tanks we are constantly improving them," Keller added.

Jackson Announces For Re-Election

Present Member Of New Castle School Board Asks Republican Nomination

DR. W. FULTON JACKSON

Dr. W. Fulton Jackson announces that he is a candidate for the Republican nomination for re-election School Director. His statement follows.

In announcing my candidacy for the Republican nomination for School Director I wish to repeat a statement which I made in a similar announcement previous to my election six years ago.

"As a property owner, I realize full well the tax burdens that our citizens must carry and if elected will constantly advocate the economical operation of the school system, so far as possible, without lowering the standard of efficiency."

I have honestly endeavored to keep my word and nothing that I could say or do now will change my record. I am willing to stand on that record of the last six years in presenting my name to the voters in the coming primary election.

As it is, of course, impossible for me to contact all the voters, I am making this announcement in order that it may be generally known that I am a candidate at this time. I will greatly appreciate your support at the primaries on September 9th. My name is last on the Republican ballot.

Belgian Gold Given To Nazis

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—Belgian gold worth $230,000,000 formerly cached at Dakar has been turned over by France to Germany, it was charged today by Hubert J. N. Ansiaux, inspector for the National Bank of Belgium, as he departed for Lisbon aboard the Atlantic Clipper.

Ansiaux has been in the United States suing for recovery of the money from frozen French funds in this country. An attachment was granted by the New York State Supreme Court but the Vichy government has appealed to the United States Supreme Court.

"We are informed the gold has been sent to Berlin," said Ansiaux. "I'm coming back in six months when the case will be argued in Washington."

The gold was deposited by Belgium with the bank of France between November, 1939, and May 10, 1940 when the Belgian army broke. The Belgians asked the French to ship their gold to the United States when France started to crumble but, instead, the gold was sent to Dakar.

Would Donate Oil Properties

(International News Service)

FRANKLIN, Pa., Aug. 27.—George K. Anderson, prominent independent oil producer, said today there was "no joker" in his offer to turn over his extensive oil properties to the federal government "for the duration."

He said he has been losing money every year, and that he can't make the wells pay at $2.68 per barrel oil—the ceiling set last Saturday by Price Control Administrator Leon Henderson.

"I will turn over to the government my oil properties for the duration, to operate them without other cost than current expenses," Anderson said. "The government can have the oil. There will be no interest charged on capital investment."

"I have lost $15,000 during the last few years."

"I have kept these wells operating, not so much for their income, which was negligible, but to provide work for my men."

"When oil was raised recently, to $2.93, I raised my men's wages, and now with the price back to $2.68, I am definitely in the red again."

"If Mr. Henderson will take off the ceiling, I will operate my wells. Otherwise, I think the government should take them over."

IS THIS WHY THEY CALL IT LABOR DAY, DADDY?

Blind-Lead-Blind

"Fuehrer—Fuehrer!" "Duce—Duce!" Excited masses crowded into public squares, hypnotized by sound and color, misled by lies and propaganda endlessly repeated.

Not for us, in America. We believe that NO fuehrer—leader—however wise, can be as wise as all of us together, calmly considering the road before us, seeing all the facts, deciding which way we shall go.

And so we let NO ONE MAN put himself beyond the critical eyes and ears of the rest of the public. We'd not be FREE if we were kept in darkness.

The British public cheered Chamberlain to the echo when he returned from Munich. But it kept its right to know how his appeasement plans came off. And kept its right to reject him when it decided HIS judgment had faltered.

The American public, patient, tolerant, softhearted though it is, clings to its right to KNOW THE FACTS.

This public says to its congressmen, its merchants, its teachers, its publishers and to all others alike:

"Show me your wares. Let those who think they have better wares show them also. As long as I have the facts and the right to make MY choice; I do not fear any of you.

"None of you is perfect; each has his blind spots. But with ALL of you free to see and to warn and to lead, none amongst us need be blind."

Each day the news and advertising columns of FORTY MILLION newspapers in America furnish the great Town Hall where all may speak. While that forum is kept open and in use we are protected against blind masses crying out in their blindness for "Leader—Leader—Fuehrer, Duce!"

A letter from those of you who share our views will hearten us. A letter from those of you who disagree will chasten us. And newspapers, if they are to serve you well, need both the heartening and the chastening of an alert readership. Address the publisher of this newspaper.

Over 320 of America's leading newspapers are carrying this message today to their 10 million subscribers. Newspaper Publishers Committee, 420 Lexington Avenue, New York.

Demand Married Women Teachers Resign Their Jobs

Johnstown City School Board Seeks To Remove Married Women Teachers

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Aug. 27.—The city school board has launched a renewed drive to oust married women teachers from their posts in the school system. Dr. J. Ernest Wagner, superintendent, announced that 19 women will be asked to resign, in accordance with board action.

The school heads directed Dr. Wagner to summon each married woman teacher employed in the system to his office and ask her to submit a resignation. In the event the teachers refuse to quit, the board instructed Dr. Wagner to transfer them to other posts.

Provisions of the teachers tenure act bar school boards from dismissing married women teachers except for certain specific reasons. Several years ago the local board conceived the policy of asking the teachers to resign and if the request is not fulfilled, having them transferred to less desirable positions.

Twelve women teachers were so transferred two years ago, and seven others will be affected by the latest action if they refuse to quit.

WIFE DIVORCES CAPT. STEDMAN

(International News Service)

RENO, Aug. 27.—Mrs. Florence Schick Stedman, widow of the late Jacob Schick, safety razor king, prepared to leave Reno after divorcing Capt. Giles C. Stedman on grounds of adultery and cruelty.

The court awarded Mrs. Stedman custody of their 23 months old daughter, Jacqueline, and granted her request to resume her former name of Florence Leavitt Schick.

Capt. Stedman, noted merchant seaman now serving as a commandeer in the U. S. Navy, formerly commanded such famed merchant ships as the American and Washington.

He was decorated with honors on several occasions for thrilling rescues at sea.

The Stedmans were married in New York December 12, 1938.

Stedman's personal steward for many years, Paul Wright, testified in detail concerning parties in Stedman's cabin during steamer voyages.

Wright identified Stedman's companions at the parties only as "Mrs. A. B. and X."

U. S. WILL SEND

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—President Roosevelt informed Chinese Ambassador Hu Shih at a White House conference that the United States will shortly send a mission to China, headed by Brig. Gen. John Magruder, to ascertain that nation's defense needs against Japan.

The ambassador expressed particular gratification upon being advised by Mr. Roosevelt that China's needs had not been overlooked in the now-famous high seas conference held with Prime Minister Winston Churchill.

Hu Shih was unable to say when the mission would leave for China and referred reporters to the President for any additional details.

He said that specific amounts of money had not been discussed, indicating that Mr. Roosevelt is not yet ready with his supplemental request for lease-lend funds.

U. S. Military Brains May Aid China And Russia

Missions Being Sent By America

Will Be Available To General Staffs In Both Soviet And China

MAY HAVE SHARE IN WAR STRATEGY

By KINGSBURY SMITH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—A possibility is foreseen in diplomatic quarters in Washington today that American military brains may be used to help direct the war strategy of both Soviet Russia and China in their respective campaign of resistance against Axis aggression.

The wording of the White House announcement concerning the forthcoming dispatch of American military missions to China and Russia is looked upon as implying that the advice of the American army officers on questions of strategy will be available to the Chinese and Soviet general staffs.

To Give Advice
While the primary purpose of the missions will be to formulate recommendations regarding the types and quantities of American war supplies needed by Russia and China, the White House announcement said the functions of the mission to China will include:

1.—Study of the "military situation" and;
2.—To give advice and suggestions of appropriate character toward making lend-lease assistance to China as effective as possible in the interest of the United States, China, and of the world effort in resistance to movements of conquest by force.

The announcement added that the purpose of the American mission to Russia will be "identical," although President Roosevelt explained at his press conference that the Soviet will not get lend-lease aid but will pay for the supplies they receive from this country.

Thus, the possibility is seen that the American missions may give strategic advice in connection with the use by Russia or China of American war supplies.

For example, if the United States sends fighting planes to the Soviet Union, the American military mission in Moscow might consult with the Soviet general staff and give advice on where it felt those planes could be most effectively used in the interest of the United States, Russia and of the world effort in resistance to movements of conquest by force.

The White House announcement was the first official disclosure that an American military mission is going to be assigned to Moscow indefinitely.

Mitchell School Pupils Assemble

J. S. Cotton of Grove City, and W. P. Shaw, West Middlesex. Each speaker closed with a humorous reading. A special feature of the program was violin solos by Jim Shaw, a former pupil of the school.

Greetings were brought to the reunion by Leroy Donaldson and remarks were made by Lemuel McQuiston, W. P. Shaw, Will Donaldson, and Mrs. Joseph Leonard.

It was decided to make the next to the last Saturday of August a permanent date for the reunion.

During the business meeting the following officers were elected to plan for the 1942 reunion: president, Audrey McKee; vice president, Lemuel McQuiston; secretary, Dorothy Dismore; treasurer, Mrs. Leroy McCrumb.

John Jones, the noted British playwright and novelist, who is expected to come to New Castle on Saturday, August 30, as guest speaker for the National Gymanfa Gana, is already represented in the city by one of his books.

This book, "Bidden To the Feast," is to be found in the New Castle Free Public Library. Published in 1938, it is a story of a Welsh miner's family during the last decades of the nineteenth century. It has humor, action and a fine edge of suspense. It is not a popular novel but it has simplicity and poetry that will appeal to the discriminating reader.

It is fitting that Mr. Jones, who can write such a novel, should be the speaker at this notable song festival.

Asks Colleges In Ten Counties Delay Opening

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Aug. 27.—Acting Secretary of Health A. H. Stewart today asked colleges, academies and preparatory schools in the 10 counties most affected by the infantile paralysis outbreak to postpone until Oct. 1 opening of their fall term.

Dr. Stewart directed his plea for cooperation to heads of educational institutions in Montgomery, York, Dauphin, Cumberland, Lebanon, Schuylkill, Lancaster, Adams, Franklin and Northumberland counties. Yesterday he asked for postponement until Sept. 15 of the opening of elementary and high schools in those counties.

"Such students should undergo an observation quarantine period of two weeks immediately prior to their return to college," he said.

Infantile paralysis has affected more than 200 persons in the state so far this year, as compared with 156 cases in 1940, department of health officials disclosed.

But because September in past years has always registered the most number of cases, Dr. J. Moore Campbell, director of the state health conservation bureau, said he would not be surprised if Pennsylvania's total for 1941 "goes as high as 500 or even 600 cases."

Health authorities have ordered public schools in 10 counties to remain closed at least until Sept. 15, because of the contagion.

Paralysis cases now exist in 34 of the state's 67 counties with more than half of the present state total in York county where the outbreak began several weeks ago. Counties reporting additional cases within the past week include Bucks, Lackawanna, Crawford, Lycoming, Carbon and Somerset.

No Naval Aid Plan For Reds

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—Secretary of the Navy Knox revealed today that there has been no discussion of naval aid to Russia similar to the help now being given Great Britain under the lease-lend program.

Knox was asked at a press conference whether the United States was contemplating sending torpedo boats and submarine chasers to Russia.

"Oh no," Knox replied, "there has been nothing in present discussions."

Knox also told reporters that the United States is not contemplating dispatching a naval officer to Russia with an American mission. He described the mission as "more of a non-professional" undertaking.

At the same time, Knox reported that he had "just been entertaining" Lord Mountbatten, who is in the United States to take command of the H. M. S. Illustrious, a British aircraft carrier which was damaged by German dive bombers.

The secretary said that Mountbatten had told him "a very interesting story" about being "shot out from under" three destroyers, one of which was at Crete.

NEW TAX SUGGESTIONS STUDIED BY SENATE

In event the committee decided to raise the total included:

Lowering exemptions to yield $303,000,000 which has been adopted.

Special community property state rule, $48,300,000, adopted in principle.

Increase estate and gift taxes either $123,900,000 or $915,000,000, rejected.

Gasoline, one cent a gallon additional tax $255,000,000. The committee has rejected a one-half cent increase.

Beer, $6.00 to $7.00 per barrel, $52,800,000, to be acted upon.

Higher wine rates, graduated from 10 to 65 cents a gallon, $10,800,000, adopted.

Automobiles, seven to 15 per cent; trucks, buses, five to 10 per cent; parts, accessories, five to 10 per cent, $167,200,000.

Joint returns, with modification for earned income, $258,000,000, rejected.

Limits percentage depletion for oil to cost of depletion or value as of March 1, 1913, $86,000,000, to be acted upon.

Cigarettes increase $3.25 to $4.00 a thousand, $112,800,000.

New Profit Rates

In addition, Treasury experts are to submit new rates on excess profits, higher than those adopted in the House, to yield perhaps $300,000,000 more.

There is a possibility, members said, that some new taxes may be approved by the committee and some of the excise taxes contained in the House bill may be eliminated. A determined fight is to be made to eliminate the $5 annual automobile use tax.

After accepting the general principle of the House excess profits tax, the committee still had to act upon rates and some special rules. A squabble ensued over the House 10 per cent special income tax on corporations which show an increased profit but do not earn enough to pay excess profits.

This provision is designed to hit firms as steel companies which have operated at virtually no profit before the defense boom, and now enjoy earnings although not in the excess profits tax class.

The tax is fought on the ground ## that it penalizes many struggling corporations, which just now are getting out of the "red" and into the profit class.

The committee approved a boost to 20 per cent in the tax on safety deposit boxes. Present tax is 11 per cent.

It also adopted these rates on still wines: not over 14 per cent alcohol, 10 cents per gallon; 14 to 21 per cent alcohol, 35 cents; 21 to 24 per cent alcohol, 65 cents. Rates on sparkling wines were boosted, and brandy was taxed at $4 a gallon, the same as liquor generally.

A general liquor tax of $4 a gallon was approved.

The committee approved House increased tax rates on tires and tubes and repeal of practically all exemptions from the admissions tax, except for state and county fairs.

Other colleges throughout the country should be careful to guard against possible contagion from infantile paralysis in the admission of students from these particular counties," said Dr. Stewart.

"Such students should undergo an observation quarantine period of two weeks immediately prior to their return to college," he said.

In the last two days Soviet airmen guarding the approaches of Leningrad downed in combat and destroyed at airdromes 101 Fascist aircraft.

The figures of German losses as given out by the Red army indicated the Nazi air attacks against Leningrad have been conducted on an immense scale.

Red air force losses in the same period were announced as numbering only 18 planes.

The war bulletin gave no details of land operations beyond reporting continued fighting along the entire battle front. It said:

"Our troops stubbornly fought the enemy along the whole front."

"According to precise data, 63 planes were destroyed August 24 and 93 planes were destroyed August 25. We lost 18."

The Soviet (Tass) News Agency said it was reported at Bern, Switzerland, that 800 Italians had been killed in fighting between Italian and Croat troops near Dubrovnik and that a "whole regiment of Italians are reported to have fled."

A British radio broadcast picked up by CBS said Premier Mussolini has been compelled to send motorized Italian troops to Belgrade to assist in suppressing revolts in Serbia. The British announcer claimed Nazi authorities in Belgrade were unable to get German reinforcements "because of the heavy German losses in Russia."

"In the meantime," the broadcast added, "the revolt against the German invaders is continuing in Herzegovina and Montenegro."

London, Aug. 27.—Possibility that the Russians may be preparing to evacuate the former Estonian capital of Tallinn, menaced by German forces, was reported in a Reuters (British) dispatch from Vichy today.

Quoting a message from Helsinki, the dispatch said a huge fire of steadily increasing intensity has been raging on the south coast of the gulf of Finland since last night.

This blaze—perhaps started in accordance with the Russian "scorched earth" policy—was thought to indicate that the Russians are preparing to evacuate Tallinn, the message said.

London, Aug. 27.—Possibility that the Russians may be preparing to evacuate the former Estonian capital of Tallinn, menaced by German forces, was reported in a Reuters (British) dispatch from Vichy today.

Quoting a message from Helsinki, the dispatch said a huge fire of steadily increasing intensity has been raging on the south coast of the gulf of Finland since last night.

This blaze—perhaps started in accordance with the Russian "scorched earth" policy—was thought to indicate that the Russians are preparing to evacuate Tallinn, the message said.

Child Drowns In Flash Flood

(International News Service)

One child was drowned and another was missing and feared drowned today from western Pennsylvania's flash floods which followed swiftly in the wake of a pounding rain storm late yesterday.

Mud and debris covered many Pittsburgh and suburban community streets, scores of cellars were flooded, and in at least one section water covered first floors in half a dozen dwellings.

In Fayette county, James Johnson, nine, of Hope Hollow was carried to his death in Hope Hollow creek. He lost his footing on a foot bridge and drowned despite efforts of his brother and another boy to save him.

Evelyn Thompson, three, of Gay Plan, disappeared and was feared drowned in Zelien Ryn near Greenburg. Fremmen and neighbors hunted through the night for the girl, youngest of 11 children of Mr. and Mrs. James Thompson.

In the Pittsburgh area heaviest damage was felt at Wilkensburg and Castle Shannon.

BRITISH SECURE CONTROL OF OIL FIELDS IN IRAN

London said that British forces advancing northward toward Iran from Basrah, Iraq, occupied at least 40 or 50 miles of territory from the Iran-Iraq frontier.

A second British striking force penetrated 40 miles into the middle sector of Iran around Khaman, occupying Gilan after overcoming light opposition.

In the Persian gulf sea battle, authorities declared, the Iranian naval losses, in addition to the two sunken sloops, totalled four gunboats, a depot ship, two tugs and a floating drydock capable of accommodating a 6,000-ton vessel—all of which the British captured.

Authorities declared the British naval units did not suffer a single loss. British casualties were "negligible."

In addition, seven of the eight German and Italian ships previously interned at Bandar Shahpur were captured by the British and the eighth was sunk. Two of the captured vessels were undamaged while the remainder were said to have been sabotaged by their crews.

Authorities stated, however, that they can be repaired.

British and Indian troops are continuing a methodical advance into western and southwestern Iran, a British military communique announced today.

Many Killed By Stray Shots In Woods Of State

Survey Shows 45 Per Cent Of Fatal Hunting Accidents Due To Stray Shots

(International News Service)

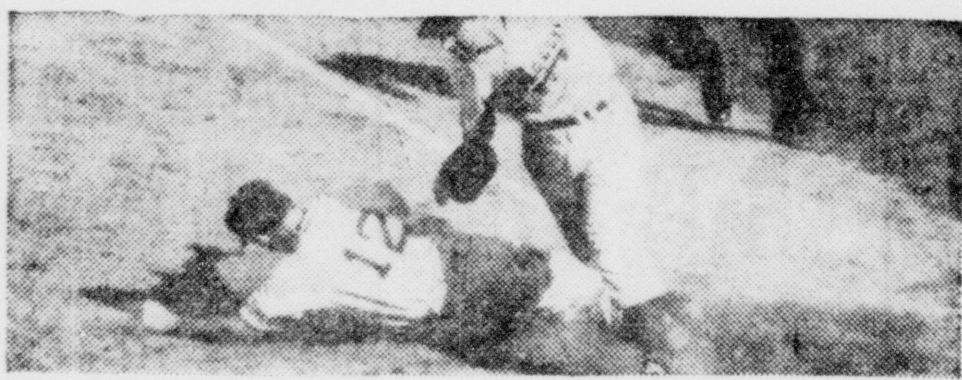

HARRISBURG, Aug. 27.—More than 45 per cent of the 356 hunting accidents during the 1940 hunting season were attributed to stray shots, the game commission said today.

Ross L. Lefler, president, revealed that approximately 63 per cent of the accidents occurred within 50 yards and 78 per cent within 100 yards of the hunter.

Lefler's survey will be presented to the 35th annual convention of the International Association of Game, Fish and Conservation Commissioners at St. Louis, Mo., August 28 and 29. Seth Gordon, executive director of the commission, will preside over the two-day session.

A survey of the 1940 hunting accidents, Lefler said, showed that 24 per cent of the total number of accidents occurred because the hunter failed to look before firing; approximately 14 per cent because guns were held in dangerous positions; more than 6 per cent because of stumbling; 3 per cent happened when the hunter mistook another person for game; 3 per cent resulted from unsafe firearms and approximately 2 per cent because of other careless actions.

SAFELY BACK at first base is Al Lopez of the Pittsburgh Pirates as Freddie Fitzsimmons of the Dodgers tries to catch him off the sack.

HIGH SCHOOL FOOTBALL SQUAD SHOWS PROMISE

Work Like Beavers At Ne-Ca-Hi Camp

Squad Of 42 Young Men Drilling Twice Daily At Muddy Creek Falls

Line Looks Good, Backfield Is Uncertainty, Lack Veteran Material

Write this down in your notebook. New Castle High school is going to have another fine football team this fall—just how good and just what will be done with the tough schedule that confronts the "Red Hurricane" only time will tell—but if the spirit and determination shown by 42 young huskies at the football camp is any indication—the district schools on the schedule are in for a plenty exciting hour or two when they meet New Castle.

The writer spent a pleasant three-hours at the Muddy Creek Falls camp yesterday and observed many things, chiefly this—that New Castle has an exceptionally fine squad this season, one of the best balance as to weight and size that they have had for years, but they are, frankly speaking, lacking in experience, which only time alone can remedy.

Line Looks Good
New Castle High is going to have a good line this year, on a par, perhaps, with the line of last year after a game or two, but the backfield is the principal worry of Head Coach Phil Bridenbaugh and his capable assistants. You can make linemen in one year's time, but backfield men need a lot of experience and that is where New Castle is lacking this season, having only Robert "Bobbie" Lee, the colored fullback from the 1940 varsity team available.

From the reserves of last year Bridenbaugh has Genkiner, who is trying for a center job; Masters, a guard; Ryan, a guard; Zubkowsky, an end to fill in, and from the varsity line of 1940 there is Norman Scrazzo, a tackle, and Tommy Parou, an end.

Need Good Fullback
The crying need this year is a good fullback, with Lee being shifted to a halfback post Robert Stewart, a former Mahoningtown lad, is shouldering the fullback responsibilities at the present time and doing a nice job, lacking only experience but he is a willing worker and is doing his level best to master the position, at the moment being the leading fullback candidate. Doster, a newcomer from Washington High, is trying hard to land a backfield post and may do so, it is indicated, although he will have to beat out Charles "Red" Ross, a holdover from last year who is trying desperately to make the varsity grade. Among others trying for backfield spots are—Nickum, Hammond, Gribble, and Peters, who played a varsity guard last year and who is being groomed for blocking quarter this season.

Get Good Workout
The afternoon drill on Tuesday consisted of first—the usual limbering up period with Bill Klee in charge, a period in which all of the boys muscles get a real workout.

The backfield men were paired off and taught the fundamentals of the forward passing game, and how to cut and side-step. The linemen were taught how to charge and "take-out" as they call it. Then the session really got interesting when the tackling dummy was brought out and there was not a boy on the spacious training field that was not wringing wet.

Head Coach Phil Bridenbaugh indicated that he may stage his first scrimmage, a light affair, this afternoon and possibly on Thursday morning and afternoon, but the idea prevails among the coaches that early scrimmaging is not good for the youngsters and tends to inflict unnecessary injuries.

Good Looking Rookies
Among the rookies this year who are eye-pleasers are: Sisco, up from Ben Franklin; Mike Rousso, 200-pounder from Franklin; Chuck Francis, a 190-pounder from Washington High; San Filippo, a line-man up from Ben Franklin, and DeGuido, a new boy in senior high this year, with plenty of beef and fight.

Coaches Paul Cuba and Bill Klee are taking over the developing of the linemen, with Bridenbaugh and Thomas giving the backfield attention. The consensus of opinion among the coaching staff is that New Castle High will be in there this year with a fighting team, and one that will give a good account of itself, but otherwise the mentors were reticent to make any rash predictions on how good or what would develop as the season advances.

Grove City First
The first game for New Castle comes a week from this coming Friday night, or September 5 to be exact, and brings the scrappy little Grove City High team here for a night battle.

New Castle only won from the Groves last year by a 14 to 6 score. The locals hope to pile up more points this season if at all possible.

Grove City will come here with seven veterans from the 1940 team, against only four that New Castle can muster.

Elders-Grays Play Thursday

Famous Homestead Grays
Will Play Elders At Marshall Field Thursday

New Castle baseball fans will have an opportunity of seeing one of the world's greatest colored baseball teams in action on Thursday night at 5 o'clock at Marshall field when the Homestead Grays will appear here to battle the Elder A. C. team.

Without a doubt the fans will get their money's worth in watching the clever antics of the colored players who can do most anything with a baseball except eat it.

Manager Joe O'Leary will have Leroy Anderson, Dory Gunnelt, Withrow and Davies ready to pitch against the Grays.

Owing to the Elder and Homestead game on Thursday night, which is a regular city league night, the Slovaks have kindly agreed to play the Elders tonight at Marshall field instead of calling off the game altogether. It was a nice gesture on the part of the Slovaks toward the Elder team. Also the Croton and Indies teams are calling off their game at Cascade field in lieu of the Elder-Grays game.

Richie Lemos Is New Title-Holder

(International News Service)

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 27.—Richie Lemos was hailed as the world's featherweight champion in everything but name today after his decisive win over Joey Archibald of New York, the National Boxing Association champion, in a 10-round non-title bout last night.

Lemos, Mexico's most popular citizen of the moment, walked away with Referee Benny Whiteman's decision by taking nine rounds and halving one Lemos weighed 127½ and Archibald, 129-3-4.

Immediately following the match, Lemos, Mexico's state athletic commissioner, announced that California, on the basis of the fight, recognized Lemos as the sole claimant to the world's featherweight title, and any claims made by Archibald were null and void as far as the state commission was concerned.

Frankie Moran Wins By 'Kayo'

Stops Ted Phillips With Left
To Jaw; Garrett Defeats
Baxter

LEASURE BROTHERS
WIN THEIR FIGHTS

Billy Garrett of Pittsburgh last night in The Arena outpointed Russell Baxter of this city in three rounds. The colored lad knew too much for the local flash and when the "going" was over the judges and referee decided that Garrett had won.

The colored lad, shorter than Russell, carried the fight to the local boy. While Baxter circled backward and "flicked" a left to the face time and again the aggressiveness and hard punching of Garrett, actually a seasoned fighter, won the decision.

Frankie Moran, the "kayo kid", came through again last night. The southpaw knocked out Ted Phillips in the second round. He demonstrated throughout he was the better fighter at 135 and when he got a clean "shot" at the jaw of Phillips the fight was over—that is for Phillips.

Don Jerry, this city, a novice, "fought himself out" in the first and at the end of the second round Referee Sam Leyschock figured Jerry might be hit while exhausted and hurt and stopped the fight and the credit for a TKO went to Leo Simionich of Girard.

Baby Face Leasure, this city, scored a TKO in the second over Jimmy Thompson, Weirton. A flock of rights and lefts to the face upon Thompson influenced the referee. Thompson was in a groggy state when Referee Sam acted.

Retardo Loses
The Pete Misto vs Nick Retardo fight was a whirligig. It was filled with action and at the end of the third round the decision went to Misto after the judges disagreed. Not all the fans agreed with the vote of the referee which carried the decision to Pete. Anyway it was a great fight.

Les Leasure, the "Canco Kid", had too many punches to suit Bobby Carmichael and at the end of three stirring chapters the local puncher was given the unanimous decision. It was one of the best on the card and with his fight gave two decisions to the Fighting Leasures.

Joe Pirrone defeated Don Beagle by a TKO in the third round and in the last fight Nick Wargo, senior A. M. A. champion, went on with Julius Walt of Weirton at 130, to win the decision.

It was a good fight between Wargo and Walt. Wargo landed the cleaner and stiffer blows although Walt, who was somewhat taller than Nickie, made good use of his rangy left time and again.

The show was good throughout. Not one bout was slow. The Jefferson A. C. stages the encounters. Sam Leyschock, Farrell, was the referee and judges were Ray Pettit of Beaver Falls and Phil Greer of this city. Bill Fazzone kept time.

Almost one thousand fans turned out to see the show.

Nine Grid Changes For P. I. A. A. Teams

With the scholastic football season practically here, reviewing the new changes in rules may be a help to grid fandom for the gaudy pigskin parade.

Nine changes will go into effect when Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic Association teams begin the season.

What looms as the most important change removes the touchback angle from uncompleted fourth down forward passes which fall in the end zone. Instead of bringing the ball out to the 20-yard line, play will be resumed from where the offensive team lost possession of the ball.

The change will be of particular advantage to the offensive team that loses the ball on an uncompleted pass near the goal line.

Other changes follow:
1.—Calculation of a penalty from no further point than the goal line instead of the old rule allowing the penalty to be reckoned in some cases from behind the goal.

2.—Removal of the clause allowing a free kick or snap after a foul catch from any point behind the spot; the ball will now have to be put in play from the line which cuts the spot.

3.—Elimination of the interference rule on forward passes which are completed behind the line of scrimmage.

4.—Extension of the dead ball rule to cases where a backfield man was illegally in motion at the snapback, which heretofore applied only to an illegal shift.

5.—Adoption of a flat rule to prevent a player who voluntarily runs out of bounds from returning to the scrimmage zone as a participant in that particular down. This will apply regardless of subsequent events established by the actions of the opponents.

6.—Removal of the limit on the number of times a player may return to the game in any quarter.

7.—Setting up the option for receivers of an out-of-bounds kickoff to place the ball in play where it left the field or on their own 40-yard line instead of the 35.

8.—Touchdown scored on a play on which the defense commits an unnecessary roughness foul will be allowed and on the kickoff the team that scored the touchdown also will be given the penalty yardage from the previous play.

9.—The powers to be who shifted the Louisville-Nova scrap to September 29 couldn't have pushed back the date so that it would be only a few days away from the opening of the World Series? Anyone going to New York for the fight would, quite naturally, stick around for the autumn classic.

Plans are now underway for the erection of a memorial honoring the late Howard Jones, Southern California coach.

Hod Lisenbee and Garland Braxton, old time pitchers, are still at it. The vets are chucking in the Piedmont league and doing quite well. Auburn's Plainsmen lost 14 grid letters by graduation, half of the 1940 insignia winners.

Not that it makes any difference but Lou Nova, in training for his scrap with Joe Louis, drinks a lot of carrot juice!

Morgan All-Stars Will Play Sharon

The Morgan All-Star softball team made up of stars of the Lawrence County Softball League will play the Westinghouse All-Stars from Sharon at the Radiator field on Thursday evening. The game will start at 5 o'clock.

Johnny Morgan who will manage the All-Stars, has chosen the following to oppose the Sharon team: Joey Cooper, Joe Mazzeri, Nickie Ross, Greg Ross, Gabby Kendra, Ted Turco, Sammy Bullano, Pete Razzano, Tony Compolio, Hub Riley, Tomei, and Ed Gallagher, the latter two from Ellwood City.

GAME IS POSTPONED
The Croton-Slovak game last night was postponed on account of rain. The Croton-Indies game for Thursday night has been postponed until Friday night owing to the Elders-Grays game. It was announced today by Manager "Hop" Colaluca.

SPORTSMEN'S EVENT AT N. C. FAIRGROUNDS

Members of the Lawrence County Sportsmen's Association and their families will gather at the New Castle Fairgrounds tonight for the organization's initial autumn event—a gigantic winner and corn roast.

The affair starts at 6 o'clock. A skeet and trap shoot will be among the highlights. The association will supply the food.

Shenango Gridders Will Meet Thursday

Lawrence League Teams Meet Today

Wampum Opposes Bessemer
And Ellwood Will Play
Hillsville

Wampum will tackle Bessemer; and Ellwood City will oppose Hillsville.
